A tired but happy Jack Zoulek starts cutting up one of two 100-pound pigs which were the center of attention at East Jordan's biggest party of the year.

Formula for fun weekend: Drive up north, roast a pig

BY JIM BAUMANN

Just like the rest of the Northland, East Jordan is overrun with tourists every Labor Day weekend.

And so -- just like the downstate -- lots of East Jordanites head north for the three-day holiday weekend. But most of them, about 300 in all, head for the same place near the tiny village of Rexton in the Upper Peninsula.

Why do so many people like to drive nearly 100 miles from home to be with the same people they see every day in their home town?

The attraction is a pig roast, but mainly it's a chance to get out of town, let your hair down and make a real effort to have fun with those same people they see every day.

This year's pig roast was the third annual, and judging by the success of it, it will surely continue as long as there are pigs, campers, beer and fun-loving people.

It all started about five years ago when Jack Zoulek and Don Snyder decided to go together to buy 80 acres of secluded property in the U.P.

Then, two years ago, Zoulek thought of having a pig roast for a big group of friends. "Do you think anyone would come?" he asked.

"It's worth a try," Snyder said, and they put out the word, along with a few crudely scrawled signs.

About 120 people came to that first pig roast. Last year about 280 came, and Zoulek roasted two pigs. This year's affair drew about 300 people.

Actually, the pig roast is a weekend campout for many people. (Others come just for the roast.) This year, about 40 campers and vans were assembled in a covered-wagon-style circle around a big bonfire.

There's an American flag flying near the fire, and a pig flag just below Old Glory. The fire is surrounded by people in yard chairs, sipping their favorite beverages.

A never-ending "free-form" softball game is going on in a field nearby. All ages are playing, no score is kept, no innings are counted, and there isn't even much of a batting order. "Having fun is the main thing," one player said.

Some folks pick blueberries within a short walk of the bonfire, while others play cards, throw horseshoes and frisbees, sip beer, talk, laugh and marvel at the whole crazy scene, in the middle of nowhere.

Late Sunday afternoon, the pig feast is the highlight of the weekend. Jack Zoulek, who has been up since 6 a.m. stuffing and cooking the 100-pound porkers, is in his glory as everyone crowds around to watch him take the first slice of barbecued pig. Dozens of shutterbugs position themselves to record the moment for posterity.

Then everyone files through a long line to fill their plates with pig, potatoes and a huge assortment of other tempting food. (Everyone has brought a dish to pass.) At the end of the line, there's a donation jar to pay for the pigs and the kegs of beer.

It was quite an end to the summer of '78!

Old rivalry renewed

The 1978 high school football season will start with a bang Friday night when East Jordan and Boyne City face off for the first time since 1967. Game time is 8 p.m. on the Boyne City field.

The season opener is always a time of excitement, but Boyne and East Jordan find themselves in a unique situation this year.

The two school districts merged into Twin Valley shortly after Boyne City won that '67 contest, and they joined separate different conferences, so the two schools quit competing against each other in sports.

The schools added a new word to the local vocabulary last year by "demerging," a first ever for the State of Michigan. So now the cross-town rivalry can begin again.

"We were together as a school system and there were all those feelings," says Boyne coach, Bob McCullough. "This will probably be a pretty emotional game. We just hope it's the beginning of a healthy rivalry."

"Any time two towns this close to each other play, there's going to be a rivalry," Friday's game will be doubly interesting for East Jordan fans.

Besides renewing the old rivalry with the Ramblers, the game will mark Frank Holes' debut as head coach for the Red Devils.

Holes, 27, coached at Baraga in the Upper Peninsula for two years before coming to East Jordan. He is a graduate of Northern Michigan University, where he was a lineman on the football squad.

"I believe in having a balanced attack," Holes said. "You've got to throw to win, and we'll use a variety of offensive formations. But I'm predominantly run-oriented."

After a practice scrimmage with Elk Rapids Friday, Holes' first comment was: "I didn't realize it before, but we are REALLY small."

As would be expected in any team's first showing, the Red Devils looked a little rough on the edges in the scrimmage.

"We've got to work on our blocking and tackling and we've also got to work on our passing game," Holes said.

"But I thought our backs ran real well in the scrimmage."

Although the running backs are small, three of them were starters last year. They are 5-9, 165-pound fullback Dan V. Spence, and halfbacks Dan Crick (5-5, 150-pounds) and Dennis LaPeer (5-8, 135 pounds).

Quarterback Duane Cutler is a junior with no varsity experience.

Linemen who were regulars last year include center Jerry Zoulek, tackle Randy Danforth and guard Mike Slate.

"Our goal this year is going to be a .500 season," Holes said. "I think that's realistic, barring injuries. I don't think we're going to be in the cellar either."

Boyne City's coach thinks the Red Devils will be coming into the game with a slightly unfair advantage. East Jordan scouted the Ramblers' four-way scrimmage against Mancelona, Frankfort and Houghton Lake last Friday, a tactic that didn't sit well with McCullough.

"You just don't scout practices," he said. "You don't do things like that. I'm sure they will have a little advantage because they've had a chance to see us."

"Because we don't scout practice, we don't have any idea what they do offensively or defensively. We'll have to scout them in the first quarter."

McCullough said he had a chance to scout a similar East Jordan scrimmage, but passed it up.

The Rambler coach said he saw "some good things and some bad things" during his team's scrimmage session. "Individually it was good, but collectively it was bad. We had some good individual efforts, but we have to coordinate better."

"I would say we're about a tenth of a second off in our offensive timing. We would have holes but the backs weren't there, or it would be the other way around. If we can settle our timing down, we could have a decent outfit."

McCullough said a strong point is his new front line, which he says has more depth than in recent years. "We've had occasions when if one kid got knocked down, it was time to sell the farm," McCullough said. "But if I can, all these kids are going to get in there."

10 new teachers this fall

EAST JORDAN - The "new look" of the East Jordan Public Schools goes even further than its new high school and remodeled middle and elementary schools.

Ten teachers, nearly one-sixth of the staff, are new to the district this fall.

Five of the new teachers will be working in the middle school, which has 13½ teachers in all.

Three of 22½ teachers in the high school are new, and two of 27 are new in the elementary school.

STEVE VANDERHYDE was just hired last week to teach middle school social studies -- but he will be known to most people as the high school's new varsity basketball coach.

VanderHyde is a second year teacher, coming here from the Grand Rapids area.

VanderHyde taught social studies and worked as an assistant coach at Kenowa Hills High School last year.

He is a 1977 graduate of Hope College, where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in physical education and social studies. He played basketball at Hope and in high school at Kenowa Hills, where he earned all-conference honors.

DONNA TISON won't be a stranger around East Jordan, although this will be her first year of teaching here.

The daughter of Bill and Lillian Bennet, Donna is a 1970 graduate of EJHS. From there, she attended North Central Michigan College in Petoskey, Kendall School of Design and Grand Valley State College, both in Grand Rapids.

She earned a bachelor of science degree from Grand Valley in 1977, and returned there to earn certification in elementary education in June of this year.

Tison will be teaching sixth grade in East Jordan. Her husband David is a ranger at Holland State Park and will be looking for work in the East Jordan area.

PHIL GOEBEL is also an alumnus of East Jordan High School. He's the son of Harold and Ometa Goebel, and Phil graduated in 1966.

He received a bachelor's degree in social sciences from Central Michigan University in 1971 and taught sixth grade in Alba for the next seven years. He'll also teach sixth grade in East Jordan.

Goebel now also holds a master's degree in educational administration, which he earned from CMU in 1976.

His wife Sue teaches remedial reading in Boyne Falls. They live with their two daughters near Advance.

MIKE DISTELRATH will be the teacher for a new program for emotionally impaired students.

Distelrath was hired by East Jordan, but his program is run through the Char-Em Intermediate District. It will include middle school students from the southern part of the Char-Em District, mainly those from Charlevoix County, Ellsworth and Central Lake.

Distelrath lives near Ironton and has taught classes in the Boyne and East Jordan Community Education programs for the past few years.

He attended high school and Sacred Heart College in Detroit, and earned a master's degree in guidance and counseling from the University of Missouri in St. Louis in 1973. He earned certification from CMU this spring to teach emotionally impaired students.

Mike's wife Molly is a registered nurse who works at Grandville Medical Care Facility and teaches nursing at North Central Michigan College.

DIANE FRYKBERG has nine years of elementary teaching experience and will be teaching junior primary (pre-first grade) in East Jordan this year.

She taught in Grand Rapids for seven years and in Heartland for two years before moving up north. For the past two years, she has taught adult classes in Boyne City and has substituted in several area school districts -- in addition to working on the ski patrol and teaching skiing at Boyne Highlands.

Mrs. Frykberg graduated from Mt. Mercy Academy High School in Grand Rapids. She majored in sociology and minored in elementary education at Aquinas College, also in Grand Rapids.

Her husband Randy is an environmental manager with the Northeast Michigan Council of Governments in Gaylord.

FRANK HOLES will teach high school English in addition to his duties as head football coach and athletic director.

He is a native of Bay City, and a graduate of Northern Michigan University. For the past two years, he taught and coached several sports at Baraga High School.

Holes and his wife Marian have two children. They live in East Jordan on Boyne Road.

MARY MURRAY is starting her first full year as an East Jordan teacher, although she took over a third grade teaching post midway through the 1977-78 school year. She'll teach fourth grade this year.

An EJHS graduate, Mary is the daughter of Sue and Archie Nemecek. She is a 1977 graduate of Central Michigan University, with a degree in elementary education.

Her husband Fred is employed at East Jordan Plastics.

GEORGIA MCKENNEY is an East Jordan native who decided to go back to college after raising her family.

Jim and Florence Hollaway look a little confused here as they discover a newly dug hole in their backyard from their house guest, Mr. Squirrel.

Boyne couple gets no rest thanks to furry little pest

BY SANDY VANSTEENKISTE
BOYNE CITY - Something squirrely has been happening at the Hollaway's house but they didn't quite know what it was.

The first indication that there was a guest living in their home, as Florence Hollaway recalls it, was the red fuzz that appeared on the living room carpet. She then noticed that her red fuzzy slippers were no longer, as the vinyl sole had been eaten out.

Now who eats vinyl?
Next there was a partially chewed up bar of soap. Not completely destroyed, mind you, just little chew marks. "And he only likes Sweetheart or Ivory soap," Mrs. Hollaway said.

Now who eats soap, name brands yet? Another time, the Hollaways received a box of candy. They each had a few pieces before they retired for the evening. When Mrs. Hollaway woke up, she discovered all her candy gone and the little wrappers all over the floor. She wondered why her husband hadn't even saved her any.

Well, they determined that their house guest liked just about everything, even peppermint patties.

Then one night, the Hollaway's guest made its appearance. "We were awakened by little scratching noises," Mrs. Hollaway said. "So I got up to see what it was."

Sure enough she got into the kitchen, only to open up one of the cupboard doors and see a fuzzy little squirrel scurrying up a little hole that he had made for himself. He had gotten into the rice, the cereal and even the powdered milk.

They figured the squirrel made his way into their home while they were away for the winter in Florida. They said that he must have kept digging and scratching through the hole in the floor where the television antenna was set. Eventually he made his way through, right up into the living room, but behind the couch remaining inconspicuous.

This critter is smart. One morning they awoke and found the green beans that they had had for dinner the night before, didn't remain for long in their garbage. They found the remains neatly stacked, one upon the other, behind the couch.

At least he is consistent. The same thing happened with a package of bread heels that was left in the front room. Sure enough, the empty bag was on the floor with the bread neatly stacked, one upon the other, behind the couch.

"He's the smartest little animal I've ever come up against," Mr. Hollaway said. "We even tried using a rat trap but he's just too smart for that."

So their next solution was to try and bury the holes that he had obviously created. They put a cement block right into the ground and he dug around it. They put another block up and he even dug further past that one.

Finally, Mr. Hollaway resorted to putting up fiberglass all around the house to block the squirrel's entrance.

Well, that "little devil" as Mr. Hollaway calls him, still found a way to get through.

"This is just dreadful," Mrs. Hollaway said. "It's been six months now that we've been putting up with this malarkey."

The finale came, she said, when he destroyed her candle and flower decoration. It was a candle with a gladiola and water around the candle. Upon the table she discovered little footprints in the water and an eaten gladiola.

"He's very artistic. He'll eat anything," Mrs. Hollaway remarked.

They've been down to the Department of Natural Resources but say that the DNR can't help much. At this point they are still waiting for a particular trap that is used to catch small animals.

The Hollaways have also been talking to people who have had similar problems. The newest solution was to put moth balls everywhere that that little critter has been.

"So far, it's been working," Mrs. Hollaway said. "We don't like the smell but we don't like the mess either. It's been a week now since we've seen him so maybe that's the trick," she said.

"He's just a squirrel genius," Mr. Hollaway said. "The only thing that worries us now is that he might nest with us for the winter. After all, he's got it good here."

Mrs. Hollaway jokingly laughs, "I'll cut off his head; at least that's one way to get him to stop eating."

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Moody that the proposed impact study being discussed should be paid for by the City of Boyne City. Following discussion, both the motion and second were withdrawn.

Moved by Fitzpatrick, seconded by Behling that this commission authorize the City Manager to enter into a contract and sign the necessary papers to hire the engineering firm of Williams and Works to conduct an engineering and impact study on the Tannery Property, in the amount of not to exceed $10,000.00, with the project to be completed within three weeks. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Moved by Moody, seconded by Jessup that the meeting adjourn. Meeting adjourned.

Tom and his wife Debbie live in Advance. His wife will start a new job teaching home economics in Alba.

BILL PURDY, the new high school wood shop teacher, was raised in Charlevoix and wanted to move back to Northwest Michigan.

He graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1957, and received a bachelor's and master's degrees in industrial education from Western Michigan University in 1970 and 71.

Since 1970 he has taught for eight years at Portage Central and St. Joseph High Schools and at WMU.

Should Front Street be closed?

With the growing controversy over the proposed tannery-condominium project, especially the closing of Front Street, The Charlevoix County Press asked representatives of both sides to write columns stating their views. Both sides were allowed up to four double-spaced typewritten pages, but neither took that much space. Their comments appear here unedited except for punctuation.

We are not opposed to development of the tannery property nor to the present developers. We only oppose vacating Front Street.

No

It is interesting to note that the proposed developers offer no other alternative, but for the city to give them a half mile or more of Front Street. Then the residents of Boyne City and surrounding area will have to drive AROUND the 60 acre parcel. These residents include people from East Jordan, Charlevoix, by way of the ferry, all the South Shore resort area, Lake Shore Drive, Marshall and Anderson Roads.

Having consulted a neutral city assessor, the following information was learned. The tannery property with the road removed, would triple in value, if it is to be used for multiple housing. Closing Front Street would be serving not the public interest, but PRIVATE INTEREST ONLY.

Let's look at putting all the traffic on Division Street. Are you aware that school buses make 6 stops on Division Street. Are you aware that school buses make 6 stops on Division between Sydney Street (at the corner of Front & Division), and Lake Street? Let's consider the safety of the children riding these buses, who will encounter a substantial traffic increase and hazard in the winter months.

Can you imagine an emergency vehicle trying to answer a call from residents on Lake Shore Drive or Marshall Road at the time these buses are traveling this route? Also, residents from this huge complex would be trying to get out onto Division. There's absolutely no reason why this property need remain zoned commercial. It could be rezoned residential tomorrow if the city commission sees fit! There are also many building restrictions the city can impose on any builder or developer.

As anyone can attest, to consider using Second Street as a substitute for Front Street is sheer folly.

The heaviest volume of traffic now travels Front Street, which is a flat road with no intersections, and only four merging roads. If forced to travel Division and down Lake, there are 10 intersections and 2 merging roads. It should be pointed out at this time, that ALL children living in what was known as the 4th ward who walk to school will need to cross through all this traffic.

Should the Commissions regard the wishes of 1,250 people (so far) and vote to close Front Street, and the project fails, for any reason, how do the people of Boyne City get the road back? —THEY DON'T— Once Front Street is gone, it's gone forever. Together, let's save it.

The writers of this column, Carol Judkins and Violet Manglos, represent the Save Front Street Committee.

We believe the citizens of a town should determine the future of their town. No town remains the same. It can either move forward or it will move backward, but it will not remain the same. We believe Boyne City has a great and exciting future because of its many and varied natural assets. These natural assets attract people from many parts of the country to our area.

Yes

If we are realistic, we will accept the fact that these visitors provide a good number of the jobs and the tax money that enables the majority of us to continue to live here. If we accept these facts, we must also admit that Boyne City is not presently making the best use of its single greatest natural resource, Lake Charlevoix.

Though a great deal of work has already been done on the waterfront, much more needs to be done. It should be opened up and the shoreline developed into a parklike setting. The present marina, though beautiful, is grossly inadequate for even our local residents. As strange as it may seem, Boyne City has no beach on the lake for its own children! We believe that the city can better capitalize upon its advantageous location and realize these recreational facilities if a combination of private and public development is allowed to occur.

We envision a green area and a public walkway near the water's edge stretching from the new city hall west to the tannery property at Second Street and then meandering through the tannery property all the way to the junction of Division Street.

We envision a much needed new public marina either at the railroad property near the mouth of the Boyne River or east of the "coal dock" area on the old tannery property. A marina which would be able to handle the present and future needs of the community and also would offer a public fishing dock.

We envision a 750 foot Boyne City Beach with over four acres of park land on the westerly end of the tannery property.

We envision a development of residential condominiums on the tannery property which will generate a great deal of employment and an additional $350,000 of annual taxes. These activities would generate a substantial increase in the economic base of our town for many years to come.

All of these things and more, can be done. It is realistic. If we did not believe that, we would not have committed ourselves to such a major part of the total. But our commitment ends October 8, the expiration date of our option, unless there is enough public support for the project to warrant our going forward with the purchase of the property.

The present owners of the tannery property are Detroit area businessmen. We cannot control what they do with the property or to whom they may sell it if we decide not to go forward. The property is zoned for general commercial. Right now, without removing Front Street, the property can be used for warehouses, used car lots, lumber yards, bowling alleys, theaters or a shopping center. We don't want to see this land used for these or any other commercial uses. We don't believe that a commercial use of this lakefront property is in the best interest of Boyne City.

We do believe the 55-acre tannery property can be developed into attractive condominium sites and we are willing to back that belief by committing ourselves to the purchase of the land. We are willing to dedicate ourselves to make the effort if the people of Boyne City are also willing to encourage our efforts by lending us their moral support.

If we purchase the land then we have also committed ourselves to the donation of a community beach site on the westerly 750 feet of the property along with more than four acres of land. That donation will be made under contract with the city simultaneously with the closing of Front Street through the property. The proposed park and beach is of little value to the city as long as Front St. cuts the proposed park area from the beach area and the water.

We do not feel the remaining property is worth acquiring as long as Front Street cuts off the proposed condominium sites from the lakefront. We have sought out the best financial and planning advisors available to us. They tell us the project cannot be successful without removing the road. It would be foolish to disregard that advice and to disregard our own business judgement.

It is unfortunate that we cannot satisfy everyone. If it were possible to build this project without closing Front Street, through the project, we would do so. If it were possible to re-route Front Street further away from the lake on the 55 acres we would do that. But either case ends up with a substantial number of the proposed condominiums separated from the lakeshore by a busy roadway. It simply cannot be done with any expectation of making the project economically feasible.

However, there are a number of things which can be done in harmony with the development. For example - we can:

- + donate the city beach and park area
- + give a public walkway for youngsters to gain safe access to the beach area
- + provide an emergency vehicle route through the property for ambulances and fire trucks.
- + grant an easement to the city, which, in the event of a catastrophe blocking Division Street, would temporarily permit normal vehicular traffic to flow through the project.

We can and will do all of these things. But we cannot build the project or do any of these things if the people of Boyne City decide that a portion of Front Street cannot be closed, or if they decide to "block" the project until after our option expires.

We can readily understand why many people who live west of the city and have used Front Street for years do not want to see it closed. Others are concerned about the increased traffic that will be using Division Street if Front Street is closed. We can understand their concern too because it is apparent that traffic will increase on Division Street. We wish we could honestly reassure these individuals that they will not be affected by the closing of Front Street. We wish we could tell the people on Division Street that they will not have an increase in traffic, but we cannot because that would not be true.

We fully acknowledge that the closing of Front Street will result in inconvenience to a number of people. But, we also firmly believe that the total benefits to the citizens - all of the citizens - far outweigh those inconveniences. But what we believe is not important at this point. If the majority of the citizens of Boyne City do not agree with us, or are unwilling to throw their support behind us then we have no intention of proceeding any further.

This is our hometown too. We enjoy it and respect our neighbors. We intend to continue to live here - to raise our families here - regardless of whether this project is allowed to proceed or not.

In effect, what we are proposing is a partnership. A partnership between the citizens, the public sector and the developers, the private sector, working together to achieve objectives which will result in a better Boyne City for us all.

Rick and Dave Smith of Lake Associates wrote this article at the request of The Charlevoix County Press.

Who controls crowd?

An active, profitable economy can sometimes be a mixed blessing. Cities with heavy industry sometimes end up with dirty air, and areas that depend on tourism sometimes find themselves with crowd control problems. The recent complaints to the city commission about late night noise near the corner of Water and East Street demonstrates that Boyne City has such a problem.

Like most towns of its size, Boyne has a small police force. Unlike most small towns, Boyne City sometimes has hundreds of visitors who come here to take advantage of the area's skiing, sailing and other outdoor activities. But many of the visitors are also looking for excitement after dark, and they have plenty of company from local people in search of a good time.

Nobody disputes the right of visitors and local residents to have a good time - to go to nightclubs, dance and listen to music. But in small towns, the night life section is usually within shouting distance of the residential section. That's where the problem begins.

This is an issue where everybody has his rights. The Dilworth, Boyne River Inn and other nightspots have the right to operate until 2 a.m. But the neighbors have the right to go to bed long before then without having to hear cars squealing, drunks screaming and beer cans flying onto their lawns.

As some bar managers have pointed out, they don't have jurisdiction over their customers once they have left the premises.

Editorial

Given this, the next place to turn would be to the police. But the police don't have the manpower to constantly patrol one block of downtown. They have a responsibility to the rest of the town to prevent burglaries and other crimes. If they're standing in front of a bar for two hours, quieting rowdies, they will be neglecting their other duties.

In recent weeks, the police have stepped up their patrols in the area, but they still can't control everything. A Press reporter stood at the corner of Water and East recently at approximately 2:30 a.m., when the noise problem is supposed to be at its worst. At first, the neighborhood was as quiet as a church.

Several quiet groups of young people stood and watched as a police car drove by. The policeman didn't bother them. Why should he? There's no law against standing on a street talking to someone. But soon after the squad left, tires began to squeal and a few people started to "raise hell." It takes only one loudmouth to wake up neighbors.

What to do? It seems like some teamwork and acceptance of basic facts are needed here. The police need to be flexible enough to adjust their patrols to the ups and downs of the tourist season. (In November, local nightclubs might be the quietest places in town.) The managers of bars have to keep their customers from getting blind drunk. Neighbors and drivers deserve this much.

The neighbors are probably in the hardest spot. When they bought homes in the area, they knew that the nearby watering holes would be noisier than a library. But there is only so much they can tolerate. Then they should call the police, time and time again if necessary, to get increased surveillance. And the customers of local establishments need to realize that some people relish sleep as much as they enjoy a good time. There should be room for both.

Letters to the editor

A risky venture

Editor,

In the lobby of the old First National Bank of Boyne City about 1923, stock buyers had visions of increased tax base, payrolls and profits as they bought in The Boyne City Cement Plant. In 1921 timber era profits went down the drain with the great "Chicago 40" built in the tractor plant that is now Ron's Market. There was Chas. Gottwalds filing cabinet plant, great product. It milked away the life savings of the late Lily Malone. Remember Fred Eilenberger's General Radio Therapy Laboratories? Great product. No market. Michigan Clay Products. Keep tuned - the piano factory and the organ factory. All had payroll, increased tax base, and profits as their motivation.

A younger generation of the Boyne business community endorsing the tannery-condo project may someday understand the skepticism of the minority older generation's concern with the tannery-condo project.

Note: The successful enterprises in Boyne have made it with only minor concessions, free land, delayed tax assessments. They are enterprises like Courter's, Essex Division, Control Engineering.

It's quite possible that if everyone interested in the tannery-condo promotion would revise their approach it could get off the ground.

Instead of giving streets away and generating increased taxation by the improvement of alternate routes, the city commission might shift its approach and grant other concessions to aid the Smith brothers or other developers capable of making it without kidnapping a street. It must be kept in mind the last reported tannery owners, Garber & Stewart, of Detroit, had no philanthropic motives when they relieved Norman Naimark's interest in it.

If they're stuck with it, so what? They can write it off.

Boyne can never write off an important thoroughfare.

An eyesore

Editor,

As a long time resident of Boyne City, I want to express my feelings about the tannery-condominium project.

Not long ago the tannery property was a hideous industrial eyesore to the community. The greatest thing that ever happened to Boyne City and to Lake Charlevoix was when they tore down the tannery and gave our city a second chance to do something worthwhile on the 55 acre property. Plenty of people around here can remember the red polluted water surrounding the city from the tannery.

But now we are being given a second chance.

We have a chance to get behind the developers and give our support for a beautiful use of the land which will bring $350,000 in taxes to the community to help us pay for schools, police, fire department and other city services.

On top of that the developers are going to give the kids of the area a beach - without charging a cent to the city.

The whole project can breathe new life and a new spirit into our community.

If we don't get behind this project and help it to become a success now, we may never get another chance.

Businesses threatened

Editor,

I own a business in downtown Boyne City. I have seen other cities where the downtown businessmen sat idly by while outside promoters developed shopping centers on the outskirts of town. Those downtown businessmen and other people in town thought they had it locked up. They thought their lifelong investments in the downtown business area were solid and secure.

They did nothing to try to save their downtown areas and then watched as their customers left for the nice new shopping center which offered plenty of free parking and new stores.

Those downtown business areas are now deserted and run down. The owners of the downtown properties have lost a lifetime of savings. The rest of the city has lost a good share of its tax base as the old buildings decay and go to ruin.

Those businessmen thought it couldn't happen - But it did.

The tannery property in Boyne City is ripe for development of a shopping center. It has 60 acres of land and plenty of parking space. It is located right in town, handy to shoppers.

Until that area is developed into some kind of residential or condominium use everyone in town should be concerned about whether it too will be turned into another Giantway, K-Mart, Wicke's Lumber yard, or Joe's used car lot.

If that happens the whole community will suffer - and on top of that we will lose any chance we could have to get a city beach for our kids.

We better stop wrangling between ourselves and give our support to the condominium developers before it is too late.

Gary J. Schafer
Boyne City

Best for kids

Editor,

As Boyne City taxpayers and residents of the immediate area who plan to spend the rest of our lives here, we would like to express our feelings regarding the re-routing of Front Street traffic and the development of the old tannery property.

We would like to see Boyne City remain as it is, a beautiful little town sitting on the edge of one of Michigan's most beautiful lakes. However, we know that the population explosion that has affected the heavily populated areas for a generation is now catching up with our little out-of-the-way cities throughout the country.

A change is taking place right now, right here in the Boyne City area and no matter what we do we can't stop it. However, we can help to guide the development of the area. We can promote ideas that help to retain the qualities we would like to keep and we can reject those that do not.

In the case of the tannery project, we feel that this type of development with its benefits to our tax structure, economics and recreational facilities and its minimum needs would be ideal.

Re-routing of Front Street traffic via Division Street, Second Street, and the eastern portion of Front Street would be a small sacrifice to gain the benefits of having this fine project beautify property that is now laying in useless decay with the potential of spawning some defacing metro-like monster.

Again, we feel that the tannery project will help to keep Boyne City a tranquil place to live. We hope the commission's ruling to re-route Front Street will be in the affirmative.

Good work, Press

Editor,

We have been very pleased with your newspaper.

Since we spend a week each summer in the area we enjoyed reading the supplement, "Fun & Sun."

Also, our interests are in the Melrose Township since we own several acres near Spring Brook Hills area. Your article on the riding trails was very interesting this past week.

Several years ago we were interested to read about the oil derricks and equipment moving into the area! We haven't read anything recently on that subject.

We were sorry to hear of the large increase in postal rates, but will continue the renewal subscription for another year.

Virginia Fisher

Who 'developed' what?

Editor,

Land speculators have long been with us. Cohorts of the present option holders of the so-called "tannery" property already appear to be planning further expansion along Front Street. The Stocker property has been bought, and an attempt has been made to buy the Lewis property to the east of Second Street.

Should these dealers succeed, it is reasonable to suppose they will make Boyne City another generous trade-off proposal.

The beaches of our lakes were "developed" naturally by glaciers thousands of years ago. One can foresee future owners offering to "develop" the sunsets perhaps, or the wind currents or the waves in exchange for closing the remaining half-mile of Front Street.

Keep calm at game

There's nothing to get autumn off to a good start like the opening of high school football season. This year the season opener should be even more exciting than usual because East Jordan and Boyne City will be facing each other for the first time in 11 years. Friday should be a memorable night.

Editorial

But let's hope it's memorable because of the action on the field between the players, not between the supporters of the two teams. Whenever two neighboring towns compete against each other, there's a chance of fans getting over-excited and taking out their emotions on each other. After the ill-fated Twin Valley school merger, this risk is probably greater than usual between East Jordan and Boyne City.

Taunts and fighting between fans doesn't do anybody any good. They run counter to what athletics is supposed to be about. Whoever wins Friday's football game, it won't be any reflection on the town whose school happens to lose. After all, one of the best things about sports is that "There's always next year."

If everybody keeps this first football game in perspective, there will be many "next years" for what could become an exciting rivalry.

A labor of love?

Some thoughts on Labor Day.

Marshall Sayles

My wife told me that I should take Labor Day off and mow the lawn. Right away I broke out all over with a severe case of age.

I was writing something on Labor Day years ago when my editor noticed that I was working a humorous bit about women into the column, and he cautioned me against it, saying women are not prone to taking a joke. I could get into trouble. Since then I've found he was wrong. I've seen several women take a joke. Some even married them.

My first Labor Day celebration happened during the depression when you took five dollars and a little red wagon to the store to haul the groceries home - not like today when you carry the groceries in one hand and the wagon in the other. Well, it was Labor Day and I was a smart alec twenty one celebrating with my first drink. Imagine it costing more to sober up than it did to buy the whiskey in the first place?

Like most intelligent young kids I used to hang around George Turcott's poolroom. One Labor Day it was so cold "Turk" had the doors closed and the heat on. The place was filled with merchants and other stragglers playing cards and smoking cigars, pipes and cigarettes. Air pollution was 100 percent. A fight started and a man was thrown through a plate glass window. Right away three men fainted as fresh air rushed into the building. I remember Doc Conkle telling me that if I stayed away from that place and took care of myself I'd live all the rest of my life.

Some people won't tell things like this about themselves until they are older and don't give a hoot. But it comes easy to an ex-newspaper publisher, turned honest.

Those who do not like this column on Labor Day can still get some benefit from it. They can roll the paper up, find some guy with the wrong opinion about the tannery road and bat him aside the head with it. That right there ought to be worth 25 cents.

Correction

In an editorial in last week's Press, it was incorrectly stated that the City of Boyne City has passed an ordinance prohibiting the use of motorized vehicles on Barn Mountain.

The city commission has asked the city attorney to draw up such an ordinance, but it has not been acted upon.

Fill fall with suspense

BY PAT LIPSKI

This week we have a selection for mystery and suspense fans. "Hail to the Chief," by Ed McBain, another in the 87th Precinct series, featuring Detectives Steve Carella, Bert Kling, Meyer Meyer, et al. The city in this series is imaginary, but the police routine is established in a descriptive technique. This particular plot concerns a street war between rival gangs of Puerto Ricans, blacks and whites.

"Shattered," by K.R. Dwyer. This is a novel of suspense as Alex Doyle and his 11-year-old brother-in-law set off to drive from Philadelphia to join his wife in San Francisco, and are followed on their journey by another vehicle. Gradually the steady pursuit across the country erupts into violence.

"Yet She Must Die," by Sara Woods. Anthony Maitland goes to the aid of a fellow lawyer whose client has been accused of murdering his wife. Setting is England.

"The Evil Days," by Bruno Fischer. Sally Dawson, wife of solid commuter citizen Caleb, finds a jewel-filled pouch in the supermarket parking lot. Their moral standards collapse as they discover the jewels are worth a quarter of a million dollars, and then they become involved in a murder investigation as events build to a stunning climax.

"The Godwulf Manuscript," by Robert B. Parker. Boston private investigator Spenser is hired to recover a stolen 14th century manuscript. Then murder enters the picture and Spenser's efforts to clear his client bring him into conflict with the Boston police department. Spenser is considered by some reviewers to be the successor to Raymond Chandler's famous investigator, Philip Marlowe.

"Take My Life," by Winston Graham - a sophisticated suspense novel. A violinist at the Covent Garden Opera House is murdered and her ex-lover, now married to a rising opera star, is accused of the crime. Against the weight of circumstantial evidence the singer sets out to prove her husband's innocence, even when she finds her own life in danger.

"The Steam Pig," by James McClure - won the British Crime Writer's Award for Best of the Year. South Africa is the setting for this author's first novel. Undertaker discovers the body he is preparing is not who it is supposed to be, but is a music teacher who has been knifed to death. While a good suspense novel, on another level it is also a revealing portrait of South Africa today.

"The Man Who Liked to Look at Himself," by K.C. Constantine. Rockbury, Penn. Police Chief Mario Balzac accompanies the new state trooper commander on the first day of hunting season, when the commander's dog digs up a human thigh bone. Balzac not only has to find the murderer he first has to identify the victim.

Here's what's cooking

An end to dull meals

WITH GINGER JACKSON

Preparing meals that are well balanced and easy to make can sometimes become a drag. There are just so many casseroles you can serve to your family before they reach their saturation point and nicely tell you to "stuff it!" So why not do exactly that and try serving a meal-in-one with the following recipes? They'll soon change their minds about your "dull" meals!

Margaret Patton's EASY BEEF PASTIES (makes 8)

FILLING:

- 1 pound lean ground beef
- 1 large onion, cut up
- 2 cups, cut up potatoes
- 1 cup rutabaga, cut up
- ½ cup carrots, cut in chunks

Grind all the above ingredients with a meat grinder (medium grind). If you don't have a meat grinder, then chop them up as finely as possible. Mix all the ingredients well and season with salt and pepper.

CRUST:

Use 1 stick of pie crust mix (can be purchased this way or make your own, unsweetened crust.) Add to it about ¾ cup of flour and enough water to make a rollable dough. Divide the dough into 8 equal balls and roll each one into a 7 inch square. The dough should be rolled as thin as possible on a well floured board. Put equal amount of filling on each square of dough and fold into a triangle, pressing the edges together. Place on an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 10-15 minutes. Then reduce heat to 325 degrees for the last 45-50 minutes. (The fat in the beef will make the crust nice and flakey.)

These pasties can be served immediately or refrigerated and reheated before serving. (They are good cold too, however.) If you want to freeze them, just wrap each one in foil, seal well. They will keep frozen for a couple of months. It's not necessary to thaw them before heating. To heat them in the foil, open the top so that the crust will not become soggy.

This one originated in the mountains of Spain.

BAKED STUFFED POTATOES (serves 6)

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- ½ cup finely chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ¼ cup chopped fresh parsley
- ½ cup finely chopped cooked pork, lamb or beef
- 1 pound fresh ripe tomatoes, peeled and chopped or 1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon oregano
- pepper to taste
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 6 baking potatoes, washed and dried

DIRECTIONS:

In a large skillet, melt the butter and add the first three ingredients. Sauté until tender, then add meat, tomatoes, and seasonings. Simmer uncovered until nearly all the liquid has evaporated, about 30 minutes.

While the above mixture is simmering, core each potato lengthwise, cutting out the center and making a hole about 1½ inches in diameter. Rub the inside of the potatoes immediately with lemon juice (so they won't turn gray).

Spoon the prepared mixture into each one and wrap individually in aluminum foil, brushing each with melted butter before sealing. Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a 350 degree oven for about 1 hour or longer, until potatoes are soft. (Test with a fork.)

Before serving, remove from foil. These can be sliced before serving but it isn't necessary.

If you're going on a picnic, prepare these ahead of time, keep cool, then place over glowing coals and bake until done! And a couple from Boyne City.

Linda Dinnell's ROLLED PORK STEAKS (serves 4-6)

You will need:

- 4 pork steaks, bones removed
- salt and pepper
- 1½ cups sage stuffing OR equal amount of prepared packaged stuffing mix

DIRECTIONS:

Place an equal amount of stuffing in the center of each pork steak. Roll up carefully and secure each with a tooth pick. Place in casserole dish, season lightly with salt and pepper, and brown uncovered in a 350 degree oven (about 15 minutes). Reduce the heat to 325 degrees, cover and continue to bake until pork is well cooked, about 30 minutes more. The rolls will be nice and moist from the pork fat and the liquid in the stuffing. Gravy can be made to pour over these if you wish.

Diane Bowman's POCKET BREAD DIRECTIONS FOR BREAD:

In a large bowl dissolve 1 package of active dry yeast in 1 and one third cups warm water. Stir in:

- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon sugar
- 1½ cups unbleached flour

Beat until smooth, mixing in enough additional flour (about 1½-2 cups) to make the mixture smooth and not sticky.

Place on a lightly floured surface and knead until elastic (about 10 minutes.) Place in a large greased bowl, grease top of dough, cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk. (The time for this will vary depending upon the temperature in your kitchen.)

Punch dough down and divide into 6 equal parts. Roll into 6 balls and let rise again (about ½ an hour).

On a floured surface, roll each one into a 6½ inch circle, dip the bottom only in corn meal and place on ungreased baking sheets (about 2 per sheet).

Let rise again for 15 minutes and then bake in a 450 degree oven for 12 minutes. Each one will puff up with "a pocket" and should be golden brown. These can be made ahead of time and kept on hand until you're ready to fill them.

FILLING:

In a large frying pan cook:

- 1½ pounds ground beef
- Pour off fat and add to it the following:
- 1 can condensed vegetable type soup of any kind
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
- one third cup chopped onion
- ½ teaspoon salt
- pepper to taste
- one third cup bottled chili sauce

Stir all of the above until hot. Then cut each bread round in half (so each half forms a "pocket"). Fill each one and serve. It is not necessary to warm the bread if you have made it ahead of time, because the filling will heat the bread.

The wonderful thing about this bread is that you can fill it with just about any concoction you can think of. Warm Spanish rice, sautéed vegetables, slices of cooked meat with barbecue sauce or gravy, or even tuna salad. Just let your imagination run wild!

AND NOW IN ATWOOD!

And a-waaay it went!

Well, our television is gone. Following is a journal of our first week without the tube.

Monday: In a moment of extreme bravery and daring, took the television down to Sherman's Hardware and traded it in on a stereo, complete with AM-FM radio and an eight track tape player. Brought it home and surprised the kids. They weren't impressed.

Hazel Blair

Tuesday Got up to find all three children sitting on the floor staring at the radio dial. Old habits are hard to break. The living room looks bare without the television. It's a strange feeling which reminds me of empty feeling left when a good friend moves away.

Wednesday: The boys have made arrangements with a kind-hearted neighbor to watch their favorite shows at her house. Oh, well. I wonder what Iris is up to on "Another World". I haven't watched it for two years, but now I can't watch it. There is a certain amount of insecurity in that.

Thursday: I have rediscovered time. In my television watching days, Time was split into half hours and hours, with an occasional 90 minutes to break the monotony. Now I have evenings, afternoons, mornings; the segments thereof don't really matter. The kids have discovered Mystery Theatre on the radio and are totally captivated.

Friday: Sara remarks in a store, "Look, Mommy, a television." People stare. One person had even said it was cruel to sell the television. "I'm rather defensive but learning to cope well."

And that's pretty much the way it went. Surprisingly, the kids don't seem to miss their "favorite" shows and have actually resorted to activities which use their minds. I'm reading a book and catching up on things that have been left for when there was nothing else to do.

But would someone please tell me what Iris is up to?

Lei G. Johnson, Community Relations Manager, Petoskey, offers you this telephone tip:

Call us before you move . . . you might save unnecessary expense.

If you're planning to move to another home, now's the time to think about how many phones you might need in your new home and what kind of changes you might need in your phone service. A little planning can help you avoid unnecessary installation charges.

Call your Michigan Bell Service Representative. Allow enough time before moving for a full explanation of service and equipment options and time to order the phone service you need when you need it. Remember, once your new service is installed, extra visits by your installer mean extra expenses for you, expenses we'd rather you didn't have to pay.

CHIROPRACTORS SEEK RESEARCH VOLUNTEERS

The International Pain Control Institute in conjunction with New York Chiropractic College is presently engaged in what is the most extensive research program ever undertaken by the chiropractic profession. This research is directed toward determining the relationship between health problems and spinal misalignments and utilizes a screening process called Contour Analysis.

Volunteers are being sought for screening. Contour Analysis enables taking a three-dimensional picture (called Moire photography) of the topography of the surface of the spine to detect spinal stress deviations. This analysis will be correlated with leg deficiency, patient symptomatology, and levels of spinal tenderness. An analysis of this type can reveal such things as normal and abnormal stress patterns, spinal curvature, muscle spasms, muscle imbalance, spinal distortions, and scoliosis.

There is no charge to participating volunteers, since the doctors are contributing their time, service, and facilities for the program. Final processing and evaluation will be done at the New York Chiropractic College.

Anyone wishing to be a volunteer may telephone participating doctors directly for information or an appointment.

PUBLIC NOTICE BOYNE CITY

THERE WILL BE A PUBLIC HEARING ON FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1978, at 3:30 p.m. with the City Commission to hear views from the general public on the proposed Tannery Development and the vacation of Front Street.

The meeting will be held at the Boyne Theatre, 216 South Lake Street, Boyne City, Michigan.

The meeting will begin at 3:30 p.m. with a presentation by the firm of Williams and Works outlining the findings of the engineering and impact study. After the presentation, citizens will be permitted and are encouraged to make comments concerning the report on the Tannery Development in general. The entire proceedings and all statements will be recorded by a court stenographer. Comments at the public hearing will be limited to five minutes so that each person wishing to speak will have an opportunity to do so. Also, to encourage greater input, citizens are requested to submit written statements. These statements will be accepted prior to, during and after the public hearing.

The engineering and impact report by Williams and Works will be available for review by the public on Wednesday, September 13, 1978 at the Office of the City Clerk at Boyne City Hall and the Boyne City Library during normal business hours. Citizens requesting a copy of the report will be required to pay a nominal fee to cover expenses.

Circuit Court Judge Breighner has requested that the public hearing be done in a manner which would facilitate the hearing be conducted and transcribed with a record similar to that which is done in a court. Furthermore, we obviously anticipate a large turnout and we must furnish a location which can accommodate all the citizens who wish to attend.

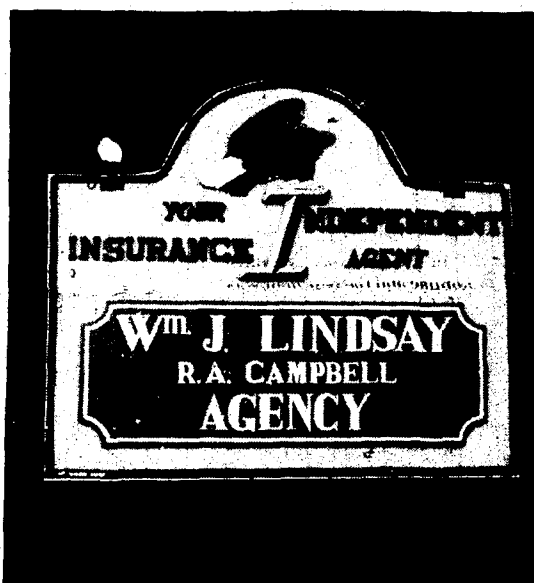

With the conducting of a public hearing in such a large room, it also becomes mandatory that a loud-speaker system be employed. Use of the loud-speaker system will also insure order at the meeting in that one microphone will be provided for the public and the only person recognized to speak will be the person at the microphone.

The Boyne Theatre meets all of the specifications above. Alternate locations were reviewed but none were able to accommodate both the number of people and the loud-speaker system. The time was determined upon allowing adequate time for all citizen comments to be heard. It is necessary that the hearing be concluded by 7:00 p.m. so that the theater may proceed with its normal operations at that time. Consequently, a public hearing time of 3:30 p.m. was set - again to insure that sufficient time would be permitted for a presentation by the consultants and questions and input from all those citizens who wish to be heard.

The public is invited to attend.

"Anyone can sell you a policy that covers your boat in the water. But how about all that time it's in storage? And while you're towing it to and from the lake? Statistics prove that a lot of damages occur while a boat is out of water. "With an Auto-Owners Marine policy, you'll protect your boat in the water and out—and chances are, end up saving money at the same time. "Why not give us a call and find out?"

Locals lose to Detroit semi-pros

BY PAT LIPSKI

A good crowd was at the Boyne City High School football field Sunday to watch an exhibition soccer match between Northern Lites League All-Stars, and the Carpathia Kickers, a semi-pro team from Detroit.

Both sides played an exciting, fast-paced game, and the first goal came from the Kickers 40 minutes into the game when left wing Tony Matye scored. A nice last minute attempt on goal by All-Star defenseman Rolf Bethke closed the first half.

The second half opened with Bruce Korthase as goalkeeper for the All-Stars. In the fifth minute All-Star Brewster McVicker made a pass to the wingman, John de Polo, which was well-saved by the Detroit keeper. A goalmouth scrimmage was well-deflected by the All-Star defense.

Midway through the half it appeared the home team tied it up, but the goal was disallowed for off-side. With six minutes to go McVicker made a great run on the Kickers goal, passing the ball to the wing, but the ball went just outside the goalpost. With seconds left in the game Kicker center forward Lee Zweig booted in a goal for a final score of 2-0.

The referee was Larry Willis, assisted by Hans Kretschmann.

Next Sunday, September 10, Boyne City will host a game against Harbor Springs. Game time is at 5 p.m. on the Boyne City soccer field.

Girl cagers ready to go

BY SANDY VANSTEENKISTE

This could be the year for the Boyne City High School girls basketball team.

"We're looking forward to a really good year," varsity coach Steph Moody said. "We have the talent and the girls have the ambition. They're hard workers."

Moody feels her team is "really hyped" for a good season since most of the girls who returned from last year have been working together since they were freshmen and sophomores. The team only lost two girls from last year, both of whom graduated.

Their season will open up with a non-league Sept. 12 game at Central Lake for an invitational tournament. Since there are only four teams in the tournament, the winners play the winners of each game and the losers play the losers of each game on September 14.

The girls started practices August 21, playing outside at the middle school. Because Boyne City's gym was not ready for use, the girls eventually moved inside at the middle school's gym. Practice has been Monday through Friday for two hours each day.

"Using the middle school's gym, which is only three-fourths of a regular court, makes it difficult," Moody said, "and I feel we will be at a disadvantage at Central Lake because of it."

Moody said she encourages her team to run and keep in shape. "We have hard practices, but the girls are hard workers, so they don't complain much," Moody said.

The most "unfavorite" exercise among the girls, is what Moody called "separators". This is starting from one end, running to the free throw line, back again, to the middle line, back again, to the other free throw line and back again, all the way to the end and back again. It keeps them running, she said.

Among other exercises, Moody has the girls doing conversion drills where there is a man advantage, three on two, two on one. There is the defensive shutter that involves running down the court in a shuffling side-to-side position. Also is the stutter step which is running in place in a defensive crouch, which is a position that Moody said they should get used to. And lastly, of course, is the lay-up drills, dribbling, ball handling and passing drills and just basic endurance building.

The varsity team this year consists of four seniors, all returning players: Ginnie Scott, Sara Bricker, Dawn Tims and Renee Breidenstein. Seven juniors, four returning players: Linda Sarasin, Penny Grunow, Jayne Camburn and Nancy Lentz. And three new players: Janis Laurie, Bardell Aimesbury and Chris Laurie. Becky Aimesbury, a sophomore this year will be playing varsity again as she did in her freshman year.

Pat Upton, junior varsity coach, is looking forward to a good season, too. Her team consists of four sophomores: Mary Jo McGeorge, Cindy Scott, Brenda Lindsay and Chris Camburn. And the rest, freshmen: Judy Upton, Lori Paquette, Roberta Korthase, Sheila Smith, Laurie Redmer, Sherie Sulliff, Michelle Russell, Carla Waldner and Laura Leach.

The regular season for varsity and J.V. opens with an away game against St. Ignace on Tuesday, October 3. The next game, the team's only other non-league game will be against East Jordan, Thursday, October 5 in East Jordan. All games are played on Tuesdays and Thursdays and begin at 6:30 p.m.

Other teams included in Boyne City's league are: Petoskey, Cheboygan, Rogers City, Charlevoix, Gaylord and Grayling. Each team plays each other twice.

Steph Moody, who has been head coach for the last three years, said she thought that Charlevoix was going to be their biggest worry this year.

"After all, they were the best J.V. team in the league last year," she said. "They're usually a tough team which makes them a real rivalry. It'd be nice to beat them."

Moody also thought that St. Ignace would be another tough team to beat. Last year St. Ignace won league championships.

Dawn Tims, the 5 feet 11 center, will be a returning starter. "Dawn has had problems with her inside shot in the past,"

Moody said, "but she's been going to the basket pretty strong lately."

The forwards will most likely be Ginnie Scott and Sara Bricker, hoping for some strong shooting, Moody said.

As for speed and some good tough defense, there will be guards Linda Sarasin and Becky Aimesbury.

The toughest part about coaching, Moody feels, is trying to decide who plays and who doesn't. "I always try to put everybody in every game," she said, "because she knows it's no fun sitting the bench."

The girls basketball games are not as prominent as Moody and Upton would like. There's only been a team now for about six years and each year a few more fans gather. "I feel the girls team is at a disadvantage because all their games are played during the week," Moody said.

But despite a lack of attendance, the girls and their coaches are looking forward to a confident and victorious season.

EAST JORDAN - City Recreation Director Jane Buxton is inviting boys and girls from the ages of seven through 16 to join a soccer team.

Fall rosters must be completed by next Tuesday, and league play begins Sept. 19.

Anyone interested in joining the team is asked to call 536-2111 or stop at the Recreation Department in East Jordan City Hall.

About 15 youngsters have been practicing through the summer preparing for the fall games.

Under the direction of Coach Hans Kretschmann, the team will play two games a week in a league with Boyne City, Pellston and Harbor Springs.

Adgate wins ski championship

U.S. Ski Team member Cary Adgate of Boyne City, won Australian National Championships and led the U.S. team to several outstanding performances in the FIS race series which ended August 20 in Thredbo, Australia.

Adgate paced the U.S. to a first, second, third place sweep of the Australian Giant Slalom Championships by finishing first with Phil Mahre second and Steve Mahre third. Phil Mahre won the Slalom Championships the following day, August 20 with Adgate placing fourth.

The Australian race series began August 10, with Leonard Stock of Austria winning the first Giant Slalom followed by Phil Mahre second, Adgate third and Steve Mahre sixth. On August 11, Stock won a second Giant Slalom with Adgate third, Phil Mahre fourth and Steve Mahre fifth.

Head men's Coach Harald Schonhaar said, "We are really proud of these outstanding results, especially the wins by Cary and Phil. The competition was strong; the Austrian team came to Australia July 23, so they had good training before the races. There was not a lot of snow at Thredbo, but the courses were well prepared."

The men's team returned to the U.S. after the races with on-snow training scheduled to begin September 6 at Timberline Lodge, Oregon.

Boyne City News

New look for Boyne City schools

BOYNE CITY - With new facilities come other changes, including three new teachers, as the school year began Wednesday. Two of the new staff members, Marilyn Hartwig and Kris Skornia, teach in the elementary school, while Rick Fowler is a high school English teacher.

Mrs. Hartwig, 28, will teach a morning kindergarten class. She replaces Chris Rice, who now teaches second grade. After graduating from Michigan State in 1976 with a double major in child development and education, Mrs. Hartwig did substitute teaching in Portland, Michigan before she and her husband moved to Petoskey last year.

The new kindergarten teacher says she likes working with the school's youngest students because of "their unlimited interest and enthusiasm. They come in very alert and want to learn everything."

Where does a teacher start with these fresh, eager minds? Mrs. Hartwig has lots of ground to cover, helping them recognize shapes and colors, but adds, "Socialization is also important, getting along with the other kids. We have to get them situated into school, because most of them haven't had nursery school."

The other new elementary teacher is Kris Skornia, who is replacing Carol Powers in first grade for a semester while she is on maternity leave. Mrs. Skornia and her husband Carl, a high school government and history teacher, live near Walloon Lake.

She taught at Boyne City from 1960-63 and has substituted since then. Mr. and Mrs. Skornia have four boys, Paul, David, Steven and Peter.

Mrs. Skornia says her return to the classroom full-time will be "a change for all of my family. But I'm looking forward to it. I like the enthusiasm you find in the younger kids."

Rick Fowler, the new high school English teacher, is no stranger to Boyne City. He did his student teaching here last fall under Bob Wollenberg and Dick Lauterbach. A native of Petoskey, Fowler says, "I just loved it here, especially the closeness of everybody who works here. And I think this is going to be a growing city and I want to be part of it."

Fowler, 26, graduated from Central Michigan last December. He will teach grades nine through 12 and will also be the yearbook moderator. He taught at Harbor Springs last year after a teacher died during the school year.

Fowler described the remodeled high school as "an exciting place to be." He and the other English teachers occupy classrooms that lead directly into the new library, which is not yet completed. The gymnasium is still being used to store materials, but during the early weeks of school the physical education classes will be able to meet outside most of the time.

At the elementary school, the classroom section is virtually complete, but workers are still putting the finishing touches on non-academic areas such as the gym and cafeteria. Lunch will not be served in the elementary until Monday. The addition to the middle school (the former elementary) is not yet complete. This includes art, shop, science and home economic rooms.

Until last Thursday, school officials feared that the opening day might have to be postponed because a fire sprinkler system has not yet been installed in the high school library and two nearby classrooms.

But state fire marshal officials later agreed to let the school open, provided students stay out of the library area. This won't make much difference to the functioning of the school, since the library isn't done anyway.

School children will see other changes this year besides the new facilities. Following the recommendation of the Professional Study Committee, a group of teachers, administrators and Board of Education member Tom Neumann, several changes in the curriculum have been made.

elementary and middle school students. New books are also in store for music students in grades one through three, eighth grade science students and for accounting, general science and geometry classes.

Algebra has been moved from eighth to ninth grade. Committee member Neumann said the switch was made because colleges won't accept eighth grade math as acceptable credits for college admission.

The school day will begin at 8:25 for elementary students, 8:20 a.m. in the middle school and 8:30 a.m. for high school. Elementary classes will end at 3 p.m., at 3:10 p.m. for the middle school and at 2:58 p.m. for the high school.

Casper named principal

BOYNE CITY - The Board of Education wasted little time finding a replacement for High School Principal Rod Place, naming Rick Casper the new principal at a Tuesday night meeting.

Casper, assistant principal last year, will assume his new duties immediately, since Place, who resigned last week, has already left to start his new job as principal of St. Joseph Public High School, a school with 1,400 students near Benton Harbor.

Casper, 38, has lived in Boyne City almost all his life, and graduated in 1958 from the school he now heads. He was an all-state football player on the Rambler state championship team that year.

After graduating from Michigan State University and serving in the Army, Casper taught sixth grade in Boyne City in 1967 and moved to the high school the next year, where he taught science.

The past year has been an eventful one for Casper. "If somebody had told me a year ago that I would now be principal of Boyne City High School, I would have suggested they seek medical attention," he said. "But after 10 years of teaching I was looking for a different challenge and the board was looking for an assistant principal."

As assistant principal, Casper was widely credited among board members for helping improve the school's discipline. He said he will continue to assist in discipline, but will leave most of that work to whoever succeeds him as assistant principal. He said he doesn't know how soon a new assistant principal will be named.

Casper forsook "no problem" acting as the person in charge of his former fellow teachers. "I know all these people fairly well and they're all professional about it," he said. "And I've had a year as assistant principal."

The new principal says he knows his job won't be easy, "but that doesn't bother me. I know there will be challenges. Education nationwide is becoming more challenging, partially because of financial problems. Another problem is parent apathy about whether kids are in school or not."

The board decided to name Casper without seeking other applications. Superintendent Rich Kelly said it would probably be possible to find a candidate with more administrative experience, but "I would recommend Rick. Although he's short on administrative experience, he had a very good first year. He has shown he can do the job."

Casper's salary has not yet been determined, but he will get a raise because of his new responsibilities and recent completion of a master's degree in educational administration.

Place, principal for seven years, cited "professional advancement and more money" as his reasons for leaving. "It's a larger school system with more students and staff to supervise," Place said.

He said he will receive a pay increase of several thousand dollars over the $23,450 he was making at Boyne City after 22 years experience in education. Place said the economic stability of the school system, which recently had 39 operating mills approved, was another attraction.

Place said he found it hard to leave Boyne City. "They have a fine school system here and with some more work it can be excellent," he said.

Place said he hoped the schools will continue to develop vocational education, a program with which he worked closely.

United Way helps youth

BOYNE CITY - Never let it be said that the Boyne Area United Way won't play ball with local youth organizations. The United Way recently donated $500 to the Little League program and came up with another $500 for Rotary Park.

Little League official Tom Neumann said the donation will be used for maintenance on the field. "It will help all the children," he said. Even with the $500, the league still needs $480 to pay its bills.

The other $500 donation has been used to buy playground equipment for youngsters at Rotary Park. A slide and monkey bars will be installed in the spring.

"Each little thing that is added to the park helps," said Lynda Christensen, one of the leaders in the park's development. "The United Way people called and asked what I thought should be done with the money for the park, and I said there should really be something for the kids."

Gary Schafer of the United Way said the group also has bought new blood pressure equipment for community nurse Thelma Behling and donated $200 so three kids could attend Camp Daggett.

Schafer said the money was available because the last United Way Fund drive netted $17,000, approximately $1,500 over goal. This year's goal will be $18,280.

"If we can get the money in and help worthwhile causes here in Boyne City," he said, "we want to do it."

vestigations, so I saw what was going on and I liked the way the police operated," he said.

"With this job, nothing is ever the same. Everytime you run into something, it's different."

Schrader attended the police academy at Lansing Community College. He will also work on the city's ambulance squad.

Schrader says he was attracted to the Boyne area because of his interest in outdoor recreation. Asked how he likes his new surroundings, he said, "I love it. It's everything I thought it would be."

New patrolman joins Police Department

BOYNE CITY - A new face is patrolling the streets of Boyne City these days, that of Officer Ken Schrader, who recently joined the Boyne City Police Department. He replaces Skip Young, who moved to the Muskegon area.

Schrader, 24, comes to Boyne from the Saginaw area, where he worked since last June as a part-time policeman in Carrollton Township. He is a native of Uby, a small town near Saginaw.

The new policeman says he became interested in police work while working for an ambulance company. "We were right in the middle of things, a lot of in-
